Who we are

CareSuper is an award-winning, profit-to-member Industry SuperFund. We provide superannuation, retirement and advice options when you need them to help you feel confident on your journey to, and through retirement.

At CareSuper, we strike the right balance between being big enough to make a significant impact, and small enough to provide personalised care, ensuring you always come first.

We're a multi-industry superannuation fund that's open to everyone. We're committed to offering innovative products, expert advice, and a unique active investment strategy which aims to deliver a smooth ride and strong long-term returns for members.

For decades, we've empowered hundreds of thousands of Australians to build better superannuation balances and retire with confidence. We genuinely believe that together, we're super.

Award-winning

We're proud to share some of the recognition we've received over the past year.

A message from our Chair

Every decision we make at CareSuper is guided by a simple purpose: helping you, our members, achieve greater financial security and confidence in retirement.

For many of you, the year brought continued cost-of-living pressure, changing expectations about retirement and growing concern about the security of your information and savings. These issues are personal, practical and immediate. Against this backdrop, our Board has remained focused on what matters most: protecting members' interests, strengthening trust and ensuring CareSuper is ready to support you today as your needs continue to change.

Strong governance for better member outcomes

CareSuper's vision is to be Australia's most trusted partner in retirement confidence. Achieving that starts with strong governance and remaining true to our values as a profit-to-member Industry SuperFund.

You rightly expect your retirement savings to be well managed, protected and overseen with care. Strong governance comes from more than just the Board's structure. It comes from the capability our directors bring and the independent assurance the Board seeks before making decisions on your behalf. Throughout the year, the Board maintained close oversight of investment performance, risk management, cyber security, operational resilience and the quality of services we provided to you.

Strong governance is not an end in itself. It matters because you are trusting us with decisions that affect your financial security for decades. Every decision we make is guided by one question: how will this improve outcomes for our members?

'Superannuation is about much more than accounts and balances. It is about helping you feel secure, supported and confident about your future.'

Advocating for a stronger retirement system

This year, CareSuper continued to advocate for practical reforms that would help you keep more of the superannuation you earn, reduce avoidable gaps in retirement savings and strengthen confidence in Australia's superannuation system.

This included supporting Payday Super so your superannuation is paid when you are paid, advocating for an increased Low Income Superannuation Tax Offset (LISTO) to help those of you earning less than many Australians to boost your balance, and backing stronger protections.

We also continued to call for fairer superannuation rules for young workers. With more than 91,000 CareSuper members under the age of 25, we know many young workers are missing opportunities to build retirement savings from the start of your working lives.

'Every decision we make is guided by one question: how will this improve outcomes for our members?'

Today, people under 18 miss out on superannuation unless they work more than 30 hours a week for a single employer. To put that into context, research from the Super Members Council tells us that a typical teenager who spends at least two years in part-time work before turning 18 could miss out on around $2,500 in superannuation contributions. That lost superannuation could compound to an $11,000 reduction by retirement (in today's dollars). At CareSuper, we believe paying superannuation on every dollar earned would help more young Australians benefit from the long-term power of compounding returns.

These reforms matter because missed or delayed contributions can mean materially lower retirement savings over time, particularly for those of you on incomes lower than most Australians, younger workers, and those in insecure or fragmented work.

Listening to what matters most

One of the most valuable insights we receive comes directly from you. Your experiences continue to shape how we think about retirement confidence and the support we provide.

We know many of you are looking for simple, affordable and personalised guidance to help you make informed decisions. As you'll read throughout this report, members such as Nanice and Alan tell us their stories that remind us that superannuation is about much more than accounts and balances. It is about helping you feel secure, supported and confident about your future.

Whether it's planning for retirement or protecting savings after identity theft, these experiences reinforce the important role we play in your lives, and it's a role you can be assured we take seriously.

Looking ahead

As more Australians transition from saving for retirement to living in retirement, expectations are changing. We've heard from you that you want greater flexibility, guidance and confidence as you navigate this next stage of life.

CareSuper has an important role to play in helping you achieve that confidence, while continuing to advocate for a retirement system that delivers dignity, fairness and security.

On behalf of the Board, thank you for your continued trust. I also thank our CEO Jason Murray, the Executive team, our people, our nominating bodies, employers, partners and service providers for their contribution to delivering positive outcomes for our members this year.

As your needs continue to evolve, so do we. I am proud of the progress we are making to build a strong, resilient and member-focused fund that is well positioned for the future.

Linda Scott
Chair

A message from our CEO

Delivering today while building for tomorrow.

Almost two years on from our successful merger, 2025–26 was a year of consolidation powered by our people, our purpose and our commitment to you, our members. Scale only matters if members benefit from it. Being larger means we've increased our capacity to deliver better services, stronger value and greater resilience. At the same time, we've retained our in-house service model which keeps us close to you and your needs and allows us to continue to offer personal, high-quality support and experiences.

We never lose sight of why we exist: to help you, our members, hard-working Australians who are juggling work, families and busy lives, to enjoy the best possible retirement when you get there. And right now, you are navigating a more complex environment: cost-of-living pressures, longer retirements, more digital interactions and greater exposure to scams and fraud. We know that your primary concern in retirement is income sustainability. In that context, our job is not only to help protect and grow your retirement savings, but to make it easier for you to get the support, guidance and confidence you need. That is why we continue to focus on the whole picture: investment performance, service, guidance, advice, security and capability, all working together for members.

Investing for our members' futures

As a profit-to-member Industry SuperFund, we are run to benefit members, not external shareholders. Over the financial year, our 'smooth ride' investment strategy and Pre-mixed options delivered positive returns, supported by resilient markets even as inflation and higher interest rates remained a feature of the environment. When it comes to super, long-term performance matters. Our Pre-mixed options have outperformed their CPI+ % objectives over 10 years to 30 June 2026. While investment performance is an important measure of success, it is only part of the value you expect from us.

'We're proud to be ranked number one for customer experience.[1] We make it easy to get the support you need, when you need it.'

Service that makes a difference

Behind every performance metric is a member outcome, and behind every interaction is a member seeking support, reassurance or guidance about their financial future. Providing a strong member experience remains a defining feature of CareSuper. This year, we resolved overall 91% of member queries on first contact, achieved a 91% ease of doing business score and recorded an 89% member satisfaction score, all exceeding our targets.

Consistently now, we have also been independently ranked number one for customer experience across the financial sector by Customer Service Benchmarking Australia (CSBA).[1] This recognition is something we're very proud of because the independent assessment across 30 criteria found that our team is consistently available to help our members solve problems when they need it most, they make it easy for our members to make good decisions about their financial future and most importantly, they make these interactions human.

Our focus remains clear: to help members feel informed, supported and confident about their financial future, while continuing to earn their trust through the quality of our service and the decisions we make on their behalf.

Our team ensures that you receive the best possible service and support and it reflects that the personalised experiences we are able to provide you are setting you up for a confident retirement.

Many of you tell us that having just one conversation with our team has given you greater clarity and confidence about your retirement. Those conversations remind us that the impact of good service extends far beyond a single interaction.

Members are asking for more than good investment performance. You want a fund that is easy to deal with, helps protect your savings and gives you confidence to make decisions about your future.

We've also welcomed further external recognition for our focus on experience this year from others including WeMoney, RIAA and other industry award programs. While we value these awards, they are not the measures that matter the most. Our real test is whether members feel supported, informed and confident when they deal with us, and we're always looking for new ways to ensure they continue to feel this way.

Protecting our members and their savings

You trust us not only to help you prepare for and enjoy retirement, but also to help protect your savings and personal information. As scams and fraud become more sophisticated across the community, safeguarding member accounts and helping members access quality, affordable guidance has never been more important.

We're investing in the things you rely on every day. This includes improving the technology that supports our services and stronger cyber security, technology and specialist expertise to help protect member information and accounts. These investments also help us maintain a simple and accessible member experience. We're focused on enhancing our advice, guidance and service offerings because we know that human support also remains important to your decision-making and the trust you place in us.

We're also passionate about member awareness as an important line of defence. Our website includes practical tips, tools and resources to help you spot common scams, protect your information and act quickly if something does not feel right.

Preparing for the future

Australians are living longer, member needs are becoming more complex and more people are looking for personalised support as they move from saving for retirement to living in retirement.

Through these changes, our focus remains clear: to help you feel informed, supported and confident about your financial future, while continuing to earn your trust through the quality of our service and the decisions we make on your behalf.

I want to thank our Board, Executive team, nominating bodies, partners and service providers for their contribution this year. Most importantly, I thank our people for the care, professionalism and commitment they bring to supporting members every day.

To you, our members and employers, thank you for your continued trust and confidence. We look forward to continuing to support you through every stage of your superannuation and retirement journey.

If you need help, guidance or reassurance, I encourage you to reach out. We are here to support you every step of the way.

An update from our
Chief Operations Officer,
Kathleen Crawford

Supporting members at every stage

This year, we continued to strengthen our operations and ways of working, while keeping our focus firmly on delivering the high standard of service our members expect.

Service that makes a difference

Our local teams are at the heart of our member experience. Every day, they help members, employers, financial advisers and those acting on behalf of members to navigate important financial decisions with empathy, expertise and genuine care.

During the year, our teams supported members through:

- 15,959 online chats
- 215,587 calls
- 6,330 outbound interactions
- 195,692 emails

In post-call surveys, our contact centre achieved 95% member satisfaction and 96% ease of doing business.[4] These results reflect our commitment to providing responsive, personalised support that makes it easy for members to access the help they need.

Whether answering a simple question or providing more complex retirement guidance and advice, every interaction is an opportunity to help members feel informed, supported and confident about their financial future.

Preparing for Payday Super

During the 2025–26 financial year, we completed a significant program of work to prepare for Payday Super, one of the biggest operational reforms our industry has seen in years. From 1 July 2026, employers are required to pay superannuation at the same time as salary and wages.

For members, this means greater visibility of their superannuation contributions and the confidence that their money is reaching their account sooner. For employers, it creates a closer alignment between payroll and superannuation payments, helping ensure contributions are paid regularly and on time.

To support the transition, we strengthened our technology, increased automation, enhanced contribution processing and improved our operational capability to manage faster, more frequent contributions.

[4]CareSuper post-call surveys, 2025–26.

Early results demonstrate that our administration arrangements are performing strongly, with 99.6% of contributions from over 148,000 employers processed within three business days, helping deliver a smooth and efficient experience for both members and employers. You can learn more about the support we provided employers on page 14.

Advice and guidance

Throughout the year, members accessed guidance on their superannuation, investment options, insurance through superannuation and retirement planning, helping them better understand their choices and make decisions aligned with their goals.

For members with more complex needs, we provided access to personal financial advice, giving them greater confidence to make informed decisions about their financial future.

The quality of this support was reflected in members' feedback. Members who received advice from our Superannuation Advisers rated the experience highly, with 96% member satisfaction and 96% ease of doing business.[5]

By combining accessible guidance, quality advice and personalised support, we continue to help members navigate important financial decisions with confidence and achieve better retirement outcomes.

> 'Whether we're managing a major transformation, supporting a member's retirement journey or answering a member's call, our focus is the same, delivering exceptional service with genuine care, every single time.'
>
> Kathleen Crawford, Chief Operations Officer

Our commitment continues

As we look ahead, our focus remains simple: continually improving the way we support our members. By investing in our people, technology and processes, we're building a stronger organisation that combines operational excellence with the personal service and care that defines the CareSuper experience.

Recognised for strong member outcomes

CareSuper was named WeMoney Industry Superannuation Fund of the Year 2026, recognising our strong member outcomes, profit-to-member model, comprehensive products and service excellence.[6]

We also received WeMoney Best for Quality for both 2025 and 2026, acknowledging the high standard of our fund management, member services and operational excellence.[6]

WeMoney Best for Member Benefits 2026 was also awarded for providing one of the industry's most valuable and comprehensive member benefit programs.[6]

Importantly, CareSuper ranked number one for customer experience in the financial sector by CSBA, reflecting our ongoing focus on delivering outstanding service across every member interaction.[7]

Trusted advice and education

Helping members make confident financial decisions is one of the ways we support better outcomes throughout their journey to and through retirement.

Whether they're growing their superannuation, preparing for retirement or already enjoying life after work, members can access guidance, education and advice tailored to their needs and goals.

Making decisions about superannuation and finances can be complex. Our advice offering helps members understand their options, navigate important financial decisions and feel more confident about their financial future and retirement. Learn more about our advice offering at caresuper.com.au/advice.

Building confidence through education

Education plays an important role in helping members make informed decisions and take positive action towards their financial goals. Throughout the year, we delivered:

- 101 member seminars, webinars and pop-up events across Australia
- 491 workplace education seminars

Pleasingly, 98% of members who attended an event in 2025–26 reported that they would attend an event again.

Supporting better retirement outcomes

Financial confidence comes from having access to the right support at the moments that matter most. By combining personalised advice with practical education, we're helping members make informed decisions, take action towards their goals and approach retirement with greater confidence.

MEMBER EDUCATION HIGHLIGHTS

Our member education program continued to attract strong engagement, helping members build confidence and make informed financial decisions.

- Alan Kohler webinar recorded 3,990 registrations, making it one of the year's standout member events
- Ask the Experts: A Market Update with CareSuper recorded 1,229 registrations
- Estate Planning webinar 707 registrations
- No More Mondays retirement program reached capacity with more than 3,500 registrations, leading to the creation of a waitlist for future events

Making super part of every payday

Payday Super represents one of the most significant changes to the superannuation system in recent years, helping members receive their superannuation contributions sooner and more regularly by aligning payments with payday.

To support a smooth transition to Payday Super, CareSuper worked with employers to build their understanding of the changes and prepare for the new requirements, helping ensure members benefit from the change.

Practical guidance

Throughout the year, we provided a range of learning opportunities, including 11 Payday Super and clearing house education sessions in-person across the country and online. We also partnered with industry associations, delivering webinars with the Motor Trade Associations (MTA) in South Australia and Western Australia. Collectively, these sessions attracted more than 1,000 attendees and provided practical guidance on the changes.

To support employers beyond events, we launched a dedicated Payday Super information hub, delivered three dedicated employer newsletters and promoted educational content through LinkedIn and other digital channels. These resources were designed to help employers understand their obligations, prepare their payroll processes and access ongoing support to ensure their staff, our members, received timely superannuation contributions.

Helping small businesses prepare

Recognising the impact on small businesses, we also ran a targeted campaign for employers using the Small Business Superannuation Clearing House following the announcement of its closure. The campaign encouraged affected employers to transition to QuickSuper, CareSuper's clearing house solution, and included direct communications and targeted email campaigns. In the three months following the campaign, QuickSuper registrations increased by approximately 75%.

Continued employer support

Following the introduction of Payday Super, CareSuper continued to support employers through webinars, proactive outreach and dedicated assistance, helping employers meet their obligations and supporting the timely payment of superannuation contributions for members.

An update from Simon Reiter, Chief Technology Officer

Harnessing technology to deliver more for members

Technology plays an important role in how we serve and protect our members. During 2025–26, we continued to strengthen our technology foundations and improved our security and resilience to support better member experiences today and prepare for the future.

Building stronger foundations

One of our major achievements this year was completing the Stratos Program, a significant transformation of CareSuper's technology environment and the infrastructure that supports our services.

The program brought together technology inherited through the merger and modernised the infrastructure that supports CareSuper. By simplifying our technology environment and moving to a more resilient platform, we're better placed to deliver reliable services, respond quickly to change and meet members' evolving needs.

Importantly, this significant transformation was delivered while maintaining services for our members.

The program was recognised with the Best Delivery of a Technology Project award at the TasICT Excellence Awards, while our broader technology transformation and team culture also received national industry recognition during the year.

While we're proud of that recognition, the real measure of success is what these stronger foundations enable for members: a more efficient and resilient organisation, greater capacity to adapt to their changing needs, and a stronger platform from which to improve the services and experiences we provide.

'Technology will continue to change rapidly, but our measure of success is much simpler: whether it helps us deliver better experiences and outcomes for our members.'

Simon Reiter, Chief Technology Officer

Strengthening security and resilience

As technology and cyber threats evolve, we continue to strengthen CareSuper's security and resilience to protect our members, their information and the services they rely on.

Our approach includes monitoring and responding to emerging threats, safeguarding access to systems and information, and improving the resilience of critical services. These capabilities are an important part of maintaining members' trust and delivering secure, reliable services.

We're also helping members understand cyber risks and take steps to protect themselves online, recognising that keeping information and accounts safe is a shared responsibility. You can learn more on page 17.

Preparing responsibly for an AI-enabled future

At CareSuper, our approach to Artificial Intelligence (AI) is deliberate. During the year, we continued building the governance, skills and capabilities needed to explore AI responsibly, with a clear focus on where it can create genuine value for members.

We're exploring how AI can support our people, improve the way we work and help deliver better experiences and outcomes for members.

Building on this work, we introduced an AI Governance Framework to guide how AI is governed, assessed and managed across CareSuper. Our approach requires AI to be used in line with our privacy and information security requirements, with clear accountability and controls around how it is used. AI is intended to support, rather than replace, human judgement, with human accountability retained for AI-supported decisions and outcomes.

AI use is assessed according to risk, with appropriate oversight, monitoring and safeguards applied throughout its lifecycle. As AI continues to evolve, we'll remain focused on using it responsibly and securely, with members' interests at the centre of our approach.

Turning stronger foundations into better member experiences

With much of our foundational transformation complete, we're increasingly focused on using these capabilities to make members' interactions with CareSuper simpler, safer and more consistent.

In the year ahead, we'll continue improving how members securely access their accounts and how we communicate with them. Behind the scenes, we'll continue developing the technology and data capabilities that support these services, while responsibly exploring emerging technologies such as AI.

Technology will continue to change rapidly, but our measure of success is much simpler: whether it helps us deliver better experiences and outcomes for our members.

Protecting our members in a changing digital world

Protecting our members' retirement savings and personal information remains one of our highest priorities. As scams, cybercrime and identity theft continue to evolve, we have strengthened our focus on helping members stay informed, secure and confident when engaging with their superannuation.

Investing in stronger security

Throughout the year, we continued to invest in security measures designed to safeguard member accounts and sensitive information. These measures include additional authentication controls, threat intelligence data, controls around access to member data, and ongoing monitoring systems to help detect and prevent unauthorised activity.

Empowering members through education

We also recognise that protecting members requires more than strong systems and technology. It requires awareness, education and support. During the financial year 2025–26, we expanded our member education resources to help members recognise and avoid common scam tactics, including phishing emails, impersonation scams, identity theft and fraudulent investment schemes.

Steps to protect your CareSuper account

1. Be cautious of unexpected contact

If you're unsure whether a call, email or text is genuine, don't engage, contact CareSuper directly on 1800 005 166 or email fraudhelp@caresuper.com.au.

2. Strengthen your account security

Use strong, unique passwords and update them regularly. Enable multi-factor authentication in Member Online for an added layer of protection.

3. Keep your devices protected

Ensure your antivirus device software and apps are up to date and make sure that built-in security features like screen lock and antivirus are enabled.

4. Think before you click

Check the sender's details and verify links before engaging with emails or sharing personal information online.

5. Keep your identity secure

Identity documents like driver's licences, Medicare cards and passports can be used to identify you. Don't store digital copies anywhere and if the documents are lost or stolen, report them to the document issuer.

If you believe your personal information, device, email account or ID documents may have been compromised, contact CareSuper immediately at fraudhelp@caresuper.com.au.

'Protecting our members is not just about responding to threats, it is about building trust, confidence and security at every stage of their superannuation journey.'

Will Sadler,
Chief Risk Officer

Helping members stay scam aware

As scammers increasingly target superannuation accounts, we encourage members to remain vigilant when responding to unexpected calls, emails and text messages. We also promote the use of trusted sources for financial and superannuation information and provide clear guidance on what to do if personal information or account details may have been compromised.

Supporting members when incidents occur is equally important. We maintain processes to help members report unusual activity, secure their accounts and access specialist support services where needed. By working closely with members and remaining alert to emerging threats, we can take appropriate action when concerns arise.

Staying at the forefront of cyber security

As cyber threats and scams continue to evolve, we are committed to continually strengthening our cyber security and fraud prevention capabilities. By investing in advanced technology, strong security controls and member education, we're helping protect our members' savings and strengthen their confidence in a secure financial future.

Member stories

Meet Alan

After more than 55 years working as a builder, Alan was ready to retire and turned to CareSuper for support. With our guidance, he was able to navigate the transition with confidence and feel supported every step of the way.

Now retired, Alan enjoys an active and carefree lifestyle, with the confidence of knowing his finances are taken care of, and encourages others to make the most of superannuation early to help secure a comfortable retirement.

Watch Alan's story

Meet Nanice

At 71, CareSuper member, Nanice is still dancing, still working by choice, and enjoying life with confidence. Like many people, Nanice had superannuation but no clear plan for retirement. One conversation with CareSuper changed that. With clear, relevant financial advice for her needs, she found peace of mind, paid off her home, and gained the freedom to enjoy what matters most, from time with family to keeping dance at the centre of her life.

Guiding the way we invest your superannuation

Investing your super

Our investment philosophy

Our investment philosophy guides the way we invest your superannuation. As a CareSuper member, you benefit from our dual investment approach. We actively manage your superannuation, taking advantage when markets rise. But we also protect your superannuation when the outlook is less certain.

The result? A smoother ride to your life after work.

Deliver long-term objectives

We know it sounds like a cliché, but superannuation really is a long-term investment. For many members, it will be decades until you access your retirement savings. That's why we've designed our investment strategy with a long-term view.

This approach allows us to ride out market fluctuations and invest in assets with longer lifecycles, helping grow your retirement savings for life after work.

We actively manage investments

Our active management approach helps create value for members by responding to changing market conditions, managing risk and identifying investment opportunities.

Our size strikes a balance between scale and flexibility. It provides access to high-quality opportunities across global markets while remaining agile enough to pursue specialist investments that support portfolio diversification and long-term outcomes.

We diversify your superannuation

We've always placed emphasis on diversification, making sure we're not overly reliant on any single asset class or market outcome.

Our role is to build a diversified portfolio designed to perform across different market conditions and protect the retirement savings of our members. By broadening our sources of returns, we're aiming to deliver more consistent outcomes for members over time.

We protect your savings

It's normal for there to be changes in the performance of your superannuation over time.

What matters most is how we prepare for these changes. We employ strategies that aim to minimise the impact of investment losses when the market falls. Employing this approach is called 'downside protection'. Building resilient portfolios that protect against downside risk means we're better prepared, helping you feel more confident about recovering losses.

Responsible investing forms part of our investment approach

We believe that incorporating financially material environmental, social and governance (ESG) considerations into investment decision-making can help better manage risk and contribute to stronger investment returns in certain circumstances for our members.

For most members, it will be many years until you access your retirement savings. That's why we've designed our investment strategy with a long-term view.

A message from our CIO

Our focus remains on delivering the best financial outcomes for our members over the long term while carefully managing risks. This disciplined approach underpins our investment strategy, and our commitment to delivering a smoother ride for members.

A positive year for CareSuper members

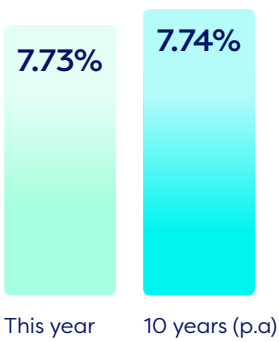

Over the 2025–26 financial year, CareSuper's Pre-mixed options delivered solid returns for members, supported by resilient markets, even as inflation and higher interest rates remained a feature of the environment.

For accumulation members in our Balanced option, the return was 7.73% for the financial year ending 30 June 2026. This outcome achieved the option's CPI+% investment objective and delivered a return broadly in line with the long-term average.

Returns for Retirement Income members were also solid, with the Balanced option returning 8.25% for the year and outperforming its investment objective.

When it comes to your superannuation, long-term performance matters most. Over the 10 years to 30 June 2026, all Pre-mixed options outperformed their CPI+ % objectives. Visit caresuper.com.au for returns across all investment options.

Drivers of returns

The past financial year brought its share of surprises for investors. Strong gains from several asset classes, including global shares, helped support returns despite the backdrop of higher inflation and rising interest rates linked to geopolitical uncertainty and global events.

The US market continued its strong run, dominated by a narrow group of technology and AI-linked companies that remained a key contributor to performance. These sectors also contributed to significant gains in Asia. Taiwan's share market roughly doubled over the period, while Korea's KOSPI delivered a 230% (in local currency terms) gain. The energy sector also contributed to returns, supported by higher oil prices linked to conflict in the Middle East.

Ongoing tension in the Middle East caused a brief setback in markets and led to a significant impact on oil and energy prices. While markets recovered quickly, these events reminded us that risks can emerge suddenly and quickly affect investor sentiment.

In Australia, returns were more mixed as higher inflation and interest rates weighed on parts of the local market. The mining and minerals and energy sectors performed well, while the healthcare sector was dragged down by earnings downgrades for several companies across the sector.

Our smooth ride philosophy steers our strategy. It's designed to soften the impact of market swings and give members a confident journey into retirement.

How our approach navigated markets

Over the year, growth assets like shares contributed to returns, while other parts of the portfolio, including credit and infrastructure also delivered strong performance. Our more defensive asset classes, including alternatives, delivered quite strong returns during periods when traditional assets, like bonds, didn't perform so well.

Yet even amongst the inflation concerns, our diversified fixed interest portfolio showcased its resilience by outperforming its benchmark over the year.

That's why diversification and active management remain central to our investment approach, with a range of investments designed to respond differently as market conditions change.

Despite global share market returns being heavily influenced by a small number of companies, we achieved strong results across most asset classes, demonstrating the benefit of taking a diversified and selective approach to investing. We aim to add value in all market conditions. Our active investment approach helps us capture opportunities when markets are strong and manage risk when conditions are more challenging.

We actively manage how much risk we're taking and where we're taking it, adjusting the portfolio as conditions evolve rather than relying on a set approach. By staying agile, adapting to changing market conditions and maintaining a well-diversified portfolio, we aim to deliver strong long-term returns with a smoother ride for members.

Looking ahead

As we enter a new financial year, the outlook is likely to become more challenging. Consecutive years of exceptionally strong returns from shares are relatively uncommon, which may make it harder for markets to deliver the same level of gains in the near term.

We're also seeing broader shifts in the global economy. Supply chains are changing, countries are placing greater focus on domestic economic security, and inflation remains less predictable than in previous cycles. These forces may create more ups and downs in markets and mean that the relationships between different asset classes may not always behave as they have in the past.

The good news is we're prepared for changing market conditions and shifts in the forward-looking investment environment. While this may bring challenges, it also creates opportunities for long-term investors. We have built a resilient and diversified portfolio, with exposure to areas that can perform in different environments, including assets that may cope better with higher inflation and strategies designed to help manage volatility.

Markets will continue to change, but our commitment to members will not. Thank you for trusting us to care for your superannuation.

Our approach to investing

Investment strategy

CareSuper's Board is responsible for the investment strategy and sets objectives for each investment option we offer. The strategy is guided by the Investment Philosophy that seeks to minimise the ups and downs members experience through changing market conditions and provide a smoother ride over time.

When establishing the investment strategy, we aim to:

- grow capital and income over time
- be diversified and manage risk
- deliver less volatile returns than our peers
- provide strong, long-term returns
- balance risk and return
- integrate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors
- manage liquidity
- be tax-effective
- maintain competitive management costs.

We appoint professional investment managers to invest members' assets in line with the strategic settings of our investment options. Within most asset classes, we diversify across several investment managers and investment styles to help manage risk and smooth returns.

In addition to specialised investment managers and partners, we manage some investments internally. These include a portion of infrastructure, property, and cash. All investment activities, whether internally or externally managed, are supported by CareSuper's highly skilled and experienced investment professionals.

Responsible investing forms part of our investment approach. We believe that considering financially material environmental, social and governance (ESG) risk and opportunities in investment decision-making can help manage risk and contribute to stronger investment returns in certain circumstances for our members. You can find more information about our approach on page 21.

We also engage independent asset consultants to advise and assist us in managing the investments of the fund. We apply relevant controls to investment managers and the assets they manage on our behalf to ensure consistency with our objectives and philosophy.

Investment risk

All investments carry varying degrees of risk and can change in value. Risk can mean either a fall in the value of an investment, particularly over shorter periods, or an investment not meeting its investment objectives over the long term.

Some of the most significant risks for investing are:

- inflation
- liquidity
- financial loss.

For more information about the types of risk, read the relevant PDS available at caresuper.com.au/pds.

Investment exposures

At 30 June 2026, we had no positions that account for more than 5% of our total portfolio assets.

Portfolio Holdings Disclosure requires superannuation funds to disclose information about their investments. In accordance with the regulations, our Portfolio Holdings Disclosure will be updated on our website within 90 days of 30 June and 31 December each year.

Your super in action

Your superannuation is more than a balance on a screen. Behind your investments are global companies, innovative local businesses and essential infrastructure that support economic growth, create jobs, and keep communities moving. By investing across these opportunities, we aim to grow your retirement savings over the long term.

Case Study Partly

Evolving the automotive parts industry

Partly is one of the innovative businesses we have exposure to through our relationship with Blackbird Ventures. Held in our private equity portfolio, the technology company has developed Interpreter, the world's first Artificial Intelligence (AI) foundation model for vehicle parts.

Built using a global catalogue of vehicles and parts, Interpreter helps repairers identify the right part faster and with greater accuracy.

As Partly continues to grow and expand into global markets, we believe it's well positioned to play an important role in evolving the $1.9 trillion auto parts industry. It's one example of how we invest in growing businesses to deliver value for members over the long term.

Case Study Hobart Airport

The gateway to Tasmania

Hobart Airport helps connect millions of travellers each year to Tasmania and is an important asset in our infrastructure portfolio.

With passenger numbers reaching record levels in 2026, demand for travel to Tasmania continues to grow. A $200 million terminal expansion is underway that will more than double the airport's size, enhance the passenger experience, and position Hobart Airport as Tasmania's premier gateway to the mainland and the world for decades to come.

We're proud to be long-term investors in assets like Hobart Airport that help grow members' retirement savings while supporting infrastructure that people rely on every day.

Case Study TSMC

Powering the digital world

From everyday users to governments and global companies, technology is transforming the way we live and work. As demand for AI and digital technology surges, many of the companies helping to power this transformation have experienced significant growth.

Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (TSMC) is one of these companies. TSMC is the world's largest manufacturer of semiconductor chips, which are the critical components of AI systems and data centres, as well as modern devices like smartphones and laptops.

Shares in TSMC are held within our overseas shares portfolio and are one example of how CareSuper seeks opportunities to add value from long-term trends shaping the global economy.

Case Study Gold

A source of diversification

We currently have exposure to gold in our thematic opportunities asset class, which sits within our alternatives portfolio. Gold has been used to build and retain wealth for thousands of years and is often sought as a form of protection during periods of market uncertainty.

Gold is a source of diversification for the overall portfolio because it tends to perform well when traditional markets are challenged. This includes periods of reduced confidence in governments and institutions or elevated policy uncertainty.

It's one example of how we invest beyond traditional assets like shares and fixed interest, helping diversify the portfolio and support members' retirement savings over the long term.

Your investment options

We offer a range of different investment options, each with different return targets and levels of investment risk, plus a Direct Investment option (DIO).

Members can invest in our Pre-mixed options that invest in a diversified mix of asset classes or create their own investment strategy by mixing and matching any of our Pre-mixed and Asset class options.

Eligible members also have the choice to invest part of their superannuation directly in Australian shares, select exchange traded funds, select listed investment companies and term deposits through the DIO. Explore our investment choices at caresuper.com.au/investments.

OUR PRE-MIXED OPTIONS

BALANCED

Overview

The Balanced option invests in a diversified mix of assets with an emphasis on Australian and overseas shares, property and infrastructure. It's designed to achieve relatively high returns in the medium to long term but is subject to short-term fluctuations in returns. Your money will go into this option if you don't make an investment choice.

Return objective

To achieve returns after tax and fees that exceed the inflation rate (as measured by the CPI) by at least 3% per year (over rolling 10-year periods).

Risk level

Medium to high. The chance of a negative annual return is 3.5 in every 20 years for super and Transition to Retirement (TTR) Income accounts and 3.4 in every 20 years for retirement income accounts.

Asset class mix

CONSERVATIVE BALANCED

Overview

The Conservative Balanced option is designed to achieve a balance of risk and return by investing in a blend of assets, with an emphasis on fixed interest, cash and shares (Australian and overseas).

Return objective

To achieve returns after tax and fees that exceed the inflation rate (as measured by the CPI) by at least 2% per year (over rolling 10-year periods). This option targets returns above the rate of inflation over the long term but with less volatility than might be experienced by the Balanced option.

Risk level

Medium. The chance of a negative annual return is 2.6 in every 20 years for super accounts and Transition to Retirement (TTR) Income accounts and 2.5 in every 20 years for retirement income accounts.

Investment strategy and investment objectives

We use our expertise to build a portfolio of assets that balances investment returns and risks. We do this by investing in both growth and defensive assets.

Our growth assets include shares and private equity. Our infrastructure and property assets are growth-oriented but do include some lower-risk assets that tend to add significant diversification benefits. The returns on growth assets come mainly from capital gains and, to a lesser extent, income in the form of dividends. We expect to see growth in the value of these assets over time. Returns from growth assets may be negative from time to time.

Our defensive assets include fixed interest and cash. The returns on defensive assets are mainly from interest. The focus is on generating stable and predictable cash flows with a relatively low level of risk. Our absolute return strategies are also mainly defensive, included by virtue of adding diversification. No investment is risk free and negative returns are possible in the case of fixed interest and absolute return. While cash returns are generally positive, it is also possible returns on cash could be negative in an environment where short-term interest rates are very low.

We invest in a number of private market investment asset classes, such as private equity, property and infrastructure. These assets are less frequently traded than other asset classes (such as shares, for example) and can be in both domestic and international markets. Assets such as property and infrastructure can have long-term leases. They're not directly linked to share markets and can provide an income stream and a buffer against the short-term fluctuations of share markets

Interest crediting rates

The return you receive on your Defined Benefit member account is calculated by applying the Fund's crediting rate to your account. The crediting rate is calculated based on the investment return on the Fund's assets, adjusted for fees and taxes in accordance with the crediting rate policy adopted by the Trustee. The crediting rate for the Fund may be positive or negative depending on the returns from the underlying investment markets. The Trustee determines the Fund's investment policy.

The crediting rates as at 30 June 2026 for the Defined Benefits funds are shown on the next page.

Asset allocation

A summary of the investments of the Defined Benefits funds is provided below.

Asset class	Benchmark %
Australian shares	17
Overseas shares	20
Private equity	2
Property	5
Infrastructure	7
Credit	9
Alternatives	10
Fixed interest	14
Cash	16

The strategic asset allocation may change from time to time. For the most up-to-date asset allocation, see our Defined Benefits fund guide available from caresuper.com.au/pds.

Fees and costs

The cost to manage CareSuper's investments and transaction costs are paid from investment earnings before they're allocated to your account through the crediting rate.

Fees and costs relating to the administration of the Fund are allowed for in the Defined Benefits fund and aren't deducted directly from your account.

Investment fees and costs (other than performance fees) are generally calculated using information from the prior financial years, including information on asset allocation and underlying investments. The actual amount of investment fees and costs will vary from year to year.

The fees and costs for the year ended 30 June 2026 were:

Fund	Indirect costs
Quadrant Defined Benefits fund	1.28%
Hobart City Council Defined Benefits fund	1.28%
Launceston City Council Defined Benefits fund	0.48%

Responsible investing

As a responsible investor, we consider a broad range of environmental, social and governance (ESG) risks and opportunities in our investment decision-making and stewardship[13] to promote sustainable long-term returns for our members.

If ESG risks are left unmanaged, they have the potential to contribute to increased business costs; for example, a high emitting energy company may face financial challenges if an emissions price is introduced. Conversely, ESG opportunities can contribute to improved financial performance; for example, improved corporate governance may help companies achieve greater returns for shareholders over the long term.

Responsible Super Fund Leader 2026 RIAA

We're thrilled to once again be recognised as a Responsible Super Fund Leader 2026 by the Responsible Investment Association Australasia (RIAA). Being named a Responsible Super Fund Leader by RIAA acknowledges our strong governance, commitment to responsible investment practices, focus on delivering measurable outcomes and dedication to transparency.

Some examples of ESG factors we may consider:

Environment

- Climate change
- Circular economy - waste and resource use
- Nature and biodiversity

Social

- Human rights and modern slavery
- Diversity and inclusion
- Health and safety

Governance

- Board composition and accountability
- Executive pay
- Shareholder rights

Please visit caresuper.com.au/responsible for more examples. Our approach to responsible investing is set out in our Responsible Investment Policy and involves the key elements of integration and stewardship. Following are examples of the outcomes our responsible investment program of work has delivered over financial year 2025–26.

Responsible investing (cont.)

KEY ELEMENT 01

Integration

ESG integration refers to the consideration of financially material ESG risks and opportunities in investment analysis and decision-making. We integrate ESG risks and opportunities into our investment processes by working closely with our external investment managers and maintaining oversight through our internal investment team.

Managing climate-related portfolio risks

Following the merger of CareSuper and Spirit Super in November 2024, we have calculated the financed emissions intensity of the aggregate investment portfolio for listed shares and fixed interest to the period ending 30 June 2025. This will serve as a baseline to measure progress towards net zero portfolio emissions (scope 1 and 2 tCO2e per million AUD invested) by 2050 for those two asset classes going forward.

You can find out more about our commitment to achieve net zero portfolio emissions by 2050 on page 41.

Manager monitoring and oversight

During financial year 2025–26, we continued to strengthen how ESG risks and opportunities are considered across our investment portfolio. This included enhancing the tools and processes used to assess investment opportunities, identify emerging risks and monitor investment managers.

We improved our due diligence processes to gain a deeper understanding of how investment managers manage ESG-related issues and introduced more consistent internal reporting to support better comparison and oversight across managers. We also developed new tools to help our broader investment team identify and monitor material ESG risks across different sectors and industries.

Case Study Robeco

Leading global efforts to address deforestation risk

As part of our ongoing oversight of external investment managers, we monitor how they identify and manage ESG risks that may affect the long-term outcomes we can deliver to members.

Robeco, a manager in our overseas shares portfolio, continues to demonstrate a proactive approach to managing nature-related risks. In 2026, the manager played a leading role in global efforts to address deforestation by engaging policymakers through the Investor Policy Dialogue on Deforestation and convening investors, companies and regulators to support effective implementation of the EU Deforestation Regulation.[14] Robeco has identified deforestation as a systemic investment risk and advocates for stronger supply chain traceability, due diligence and regulatory certainty to help protect long-term value for investors.

KEY ELEMENT 02

Stewardship

Stewardship is an approach that involves utilising a range of shareholder rights with the aim to protect and enhance the long-term value of our investments, and ultimately your retirement savings.

At CareSuper, we believe that good stewardship is an integral part of our investment philosophy and approach to investing. Our stewardship activities may include:

01

Engagement with our portfolio companies and external investment managers

02

Voting on resolutions at the Annual General Meetings (AGMs) of Australian and overseas portfolio companies

03

Contributing to public policy, industry research and campaigns with relevant organisations to achieve outcomes aligned with members' best financial interests.

We undertake some of our stewardship activities in collaboration with organisations, such as peer superannuation funds, and with specialist service providers, like the Australian Council of Superannuation Investors (ACSI). We have more about our approach in our Stewardship statement available on our website.

Engagement

Alongside ACSI, we participated in 46 meetings with Australian portfolio companies over financial year 2025–26. Please find the following examples of outcomes from ongoing company engagement.

Company	ESG factor	Outcome
APA	E - Climate change	We have prioritised engagement with APA for several years, to encourage greater ambition on climate change. In FY26, it was pleasing to see the company boosted methane and physical risk disclosures in its 2025 Climate Transition Plan.
Brambles	E - Nature	Brambles completed a detailed review of nature-related risks and opportunities and identified forestry and ecosystem services as key dependencies. As a result, Brambles has strengthened sustainable forestry practices beyond its own operations. Through supplier capability-building programs, including its Fast Track to Certification initiative, the company is helping expand certification and best practice forestry management across its supply chain.
Coles	S - Risks in supply chains	Through ACSI's modern slavery program, we engaged with major Australian supermarkets to strengthen oversight of modern slavery risks in seafood supply chains. During financial year 2025–26, Coles outlined a more targeted approach to managing risks, including enhanced traceability measures and expanded audit programs in higher-risk regions that incorporate worker perspectives. The company also improved its disclosure of seafood-related modern slavery risks and the steps being taken to address underlying drivers of exploitation, including through initiatives focused on fair wages and worker wellbeing.
WiseTech Global	G – Corporate governance	Through our partnership with ACSI, CareSuper engaged with WiseTech Global, one of Australia's largest listed tech companies, on governance and succession planning. Engagement prioritised improvements in board independence, succession arrangements and management of key person risk. Over the reporting period, WiseTech appointed a new CEO, strengthened its independent board representation and achieved a majority-independent board, addressing several governance issues that investors had identified as priorities.

You can read more about these outcomes in ACSI's 2026 Stewardship Report.

Voting

Owning shares in thousands of different companies gives us a say in how they are managed. By exercising our voting rights on a range of different resolutions at company meetings, we aim to maximise value for CareSuper members through influencing positive corporate behaviour and driving improved ESG practices. More information is available in our voting policy on our website.

In financial year 2025–26, we exercised our shareholder rights on behalf of members by voting on 21,673 resolutions at the AGMs of thousands of Australian and overseas portfolio companies.

VOTING RESOLUTIONS BY THEME

VOTES AGAINST MANAGEMENT[15]

Portfolio	Resolutions	Against
Australian shares	1,966	7.3%
Overseas shares	19,707	12.9%

[15]Votes against management is where CareSuper has voted against the voting recommendation made by company Board and Management.

Case Study James Hardie

Holding the board to account on a major transaction

In March 2025, James Hardie announced its acquisition of US building products company The AZEK Company. The transaction effectively reshaped James Hardie's ownership structure and market focus yet proceeded without a shareholder vote. Investors reacted negatively, with the company's share price falling materially following the announcement, raising significant governance and shareholder rights concerns.

CareSuper considered the board's oversight of the transaction and its response to shareholder concerns to be unsatisfactory. At the October 2025 AGM, we voted against the re-election of several directors, including the Chair, and opposed resolutions relating to executive pay and director fees. Shareholders ultimately removed several directors, reinforcing the importance of board accountability and shareholder rights.[16]

STEWARDSHIP

Advocacy

Investors like CareSuper may advocate for change with the aim to enhance how portfolio companies manage long-term financial risks. Collaboration with like-minded investors and organisations can amplify our stewardship influence, while also lowering workload and costs, consistent with the best financial interests of members. We have more information about collaborative partners at caresuper.com.au/responsible-investing.

Case Study ASX

Turning one transaction into system-wide reform

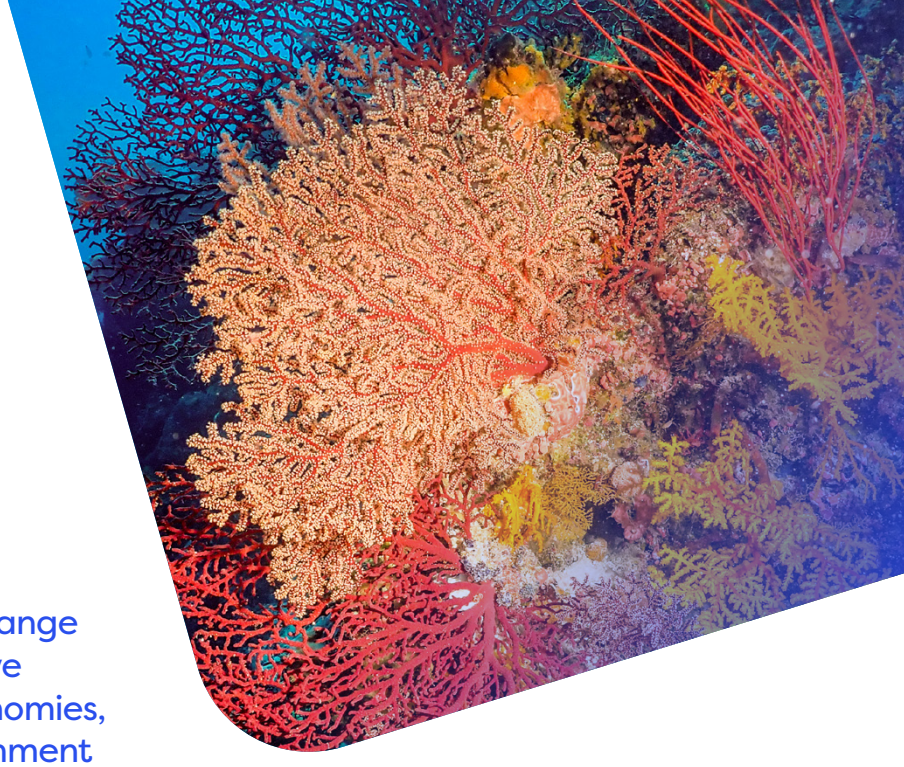

The James Hardie transaction detailed on page 39 prompted wider market debate about shareholder rights and major corporate transactions undertaken without shareholder approval.

In response, investors worked collectively to support reforms to ASX listing rules and corporate governance standards.[17] Given the ASX's dual role as both a listed company and a critical piece of Australia's financial market infrastructure, strong governance is essential to maintaining investor confidence, managing risk and supporting well-functioning capital markets.

Both James Hardie and the ASX remain priority companies within our stewardship program.

Net zero roadmap

We acknowledge that climate change poses a systemic risk, and will have far-reaching implications for economies, industries, society and the environment if left unaddressed.

It is already reshaping how markets price risk, how capital is allocated and how businesses operate.

That's why CareSuper has committed to achieving net zero portfolio emissions by 2050, from a 2025 baseline.[18] To support our progress towards net zero, we have developed a roadmap with key actions across the three pillars of:

PILLAR 01

Measurement and analysis of portfolio emissions

PILLAR 02

Investment in climate solutions where aligned with members' best financial interests

PILLAR 03

Stewardship to encourage portfolio decarbonisation

You can read more about the roadmap actions we will take to progress towards net zero by 2050 on our website.

PILLAR 01

Measurement of portfolio emissions

Following the merger of CareSuper and Spirit Super in November 2024, we have calculated the financed emissions intensity of the aggregate portfolio for listed shares and fixed interest to the period ending 30 June 2025 as 38.69 tCO2e/AU$m invested.

We have initially focused on Australian and overseas listed shares and fixed interest, where data confidence is highest, with coverage expected to broaden as available data improves.

CareSuper baseline carbon footprint (FY2025)	Australian shares	Overseas shares	Sustainable Australian shares	Sustainable Overseas shares	Fixed interest	Total
Coverage (scope 1 & 2 tCO2e)	99.7%	99.8%	99.6%	99.9%	25.7%	88.5%
Financed emissions scope 1 & 2 tCO2e	820,952	297,498	3,505	1,750	28,036	1,151,741
Financed emissions intensity	64.10	19.53	19.13	7.83	21.25	38.69

[18]Scope 1 and 2 tCO2e per million AUD invested.

PILLAR 02

Investment in climate solutions

For long-term investors, the health of the broader economy matters as much as the performance of individual assets. Climate solutions can play an important role in supporting the transition to a resilient, low-carbon economy, while also helping address risks that may affect markets and investment returns over time.[19] We believe selectively investing in climate solutions, where the risk and return profile is attractive and aligned with members' best financial interests, can support both long-term value creation and the adaptation of economic systems that diversified investors rely upon for future returns.

You can visit caresuper.com.au/climatechange for more information on investment in climate solutions.

Case Study Climate Solutions

Vestas: providing global energy solutions

Vestas Wind Systems is a Danish renewable energy company invested through our Overseas Shares portfolio. It seeks to be a global leader in sustainable energy solutions and maintains the world's largest wind turbine fleet with over 56,000 turbines across 71 countries.

Visit the Vestas website for more information.

PILLAR 03

Stewardship to encourage portfolio decarbonisation

Climate change is a system-wide challenge that requires change across the real economy. As a long-term investor, we believe stewardship may be more effective than selling shares ('divestment'), particularly in sectors that are important to Australia's economy and the global transition. Divestment simply transfers ownership to another investor without changing the underlying activity or reducing emissions.

Through stewardship, we can encourage companies to strengthen governance, improve emissions management, allocate capital to transition opportunities and enhance disclosure.

You can read more about how engagement with portfolio companies can deliver outcomes on page 39.

Sustainable Balanced option

In addition to a range of revenue-based investment exclusions, our Sustainable Balanced option (SBO) seeks to invest in activities that aim to address select environmental and social themes.

Using the MSCI SDG Alignment Methodology[20], we can measure how SBO investments are positively contributing to the outcomes of the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The SDGs are 17 global goals set by the United Nations in 2015 as a universal plan to end poverty, protect the earth, and bring peace and wealth to all people by the year 2030.[21] The assessment allows us to determine where gaps may exist, and where further engagement with our external investment managers is necessary.

Following are just a few examples of investments in the SBO and their alignment with select SDGs. We have used examples where MSCI's methodology has assessed an investment as 'aligned' or 'strongly aligned' to the corresponding SDGs.

IDP Education

With operations in 57 countries, Australian listed company IDP expands access to education globally, helping over 70,000 students each year connect with study pathways and delivering more than 1.2 million English language tests that unlock education and employment prospects abroad. Through its global footprint, IDP is helping to broaden access to world-class education, reduce barriers to opportunity, and support more inclusive economic growth.

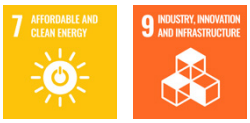

Cochlear

Its contribution to the SDGs is led by its core business of providing implantable hearing solutions, which directly supports SDG 3 by improving health, communication and quality of life.

Beyond this, Cochlear contributes indirectly to SDG 5 and SDG 16 through its focus on workforce inclusion, ethical practices and strong governance, and to SDG 13 through managing its environmental footprint and integrating climate considerations into its operations.

Schneider Electric

The company develops technology that helps businesses, buildings and infrastructure use energy more efficiently and support the transition to a lower-carbon economy. It has been recognised by Corporate Knights as the world's most sustainable corporation in 2025, and the first company to receive this ranking twice.[22] Its core products, including energy management software, grid automation and power distribution solutions, support SDG 7, SDG 9 and SDG 11.

LEARN MORE

CareSuper's Sustainable Balanced option invests in a diversified mix of assets, with a more explicit focus on environmental and social factors. The option aims to exclude or restrict investment in certain companies and assets that derive revenue, subject to revenue thresholds, from select business activities. A full explanation of the screening criteria is available at caresuper.com.au/SBO.

Insurance

Our insurance philosophy

At CareSuper, we are committed to providing contemporary and competitive insurance solutions. We offer a range of options to meet the needs of our members while ensuring the best interests of beneficiaries.

Our insurance offering is designed to provide cost-effective default insurance cover that balances our members' insurance needs with the goal of protecting and growing their retirement balances. We provide eligible members with default death, terminal illness and total and permanent disability (TPD) cover, as well as access to income protection cover. We also offer tailored cover options where a member can apply for cover if they're not eligible for default cover or require more cover than default cover provides.

Insurance fees

At CareSuper, everything we do is for our members. That includes only charging members what it costs us to provide insurance cover and regularly reviewing our insurance to make sure it continues to meet your needs and provide genuine value.

Over the past three years, we've kept insurance fees steady, while claims have increased. To help ensure we can continue providing strong, long-term protection for members, insurance fees generally increased from 1 April 2026.

Insurance review

In 2025–26, we completed a comprehensive review of our insurance arrangement as our three-year rate guarantee came to an end. The review considered how our insurance offering could continue to meet members' needs and remain sustainable over the long term. Following this review, a number of changes took effect from 1 April 2026, including:

- changes to insurance fees, with costs generally increasing
- updates to some policy terms and definitions
- changes to some default cover levels and benefit designs

We've worked hard to minimise the impact and ensure our insurance remains simple, fair and transparent, with clear fees and no surprises. These changes mean your cover will stay reliable for the future, giving you and your family confidence that CareSuper insurance will be there when you need it most.

Supporting members through the claims process

During financial year 2025–26, we continued to strengthen the support we provide to members and their families throughout the claims process, recognising the importance of delivering a timely, consistent and compassionate experience at what can be a difficult time.

We increased resourcing in our claims teams, focused on reducing older and more complex claims, introduced clearer claim ownership and regular reviews, enhanced member communications, and worked closely with our insurer to improve service performance. These actions delivered positive outcomes, contributing to a reduction of around 30% in our death benefit claims portfolio and a reduction of around 40% in claims outside service standards between August 2025 and June 2026. We also responded to member feedback by enhancing communication throughout the claims assessment process, giving members greater clarity and understanding.

Insurance claims paid 2025–26

Here's an overview of the insurance claims paid to members and their beneficiaries this year. We're committed to handling every insurance claim fairly and with compassion. Each claim is assessed on its individual circumstances against the terms of the relevant policy. Claims may be declined for a range of reasons, including where eligibility requirements or the policy terms and conditions are not met.

Insurance claims received

Death cover: 452
Terminal illness: 135
TPD cover: 514
Income Protection: 327

Insurance claims paid

Death claims: 99%
Terminal illness claims: 98%
TPD claims: 70%
Income Protection: 89%

Insured benefits paid to members and their beneficiaries

Death claims: $42.6m
Terminal illness claims: $13.4m
TPD claims: $45.2m
Income Protection claims: $14m

How we operate

Governance

It's our Board's responsibility to ensure CareSuper is managed in the best financial interests of members, and good governance is essential to that.

Our Board is committed to high standards of fund governance and applies the ACSI Governance Guidelines where appropriate for our Fund. We take a continuous improvement approach, regularly reviewing and strengthening our governance practices to support sound decision making, robust oversight and strong outcomes for members.

A key part of this approach is ensuring the Board has the right mix of skills, experience and perspectives, supported by constructive challenge and independent judgement. The Board Skills Matrix assists in identifying current and emerging capability needs and informs Board renewal, succession and director appointments. The Board's commitment to achieving and maintaining a 40:40:20 gender balance is also considered as part of these processes.

When vacancies arise, the Board uses the skills matrix to identify and prioritise the capabilities needed as part of the nomination and appointment process. The Board seeks candidates whose skills, experience, judgement and capacity for constructive challenge will strengthen its collective effectiveness. Candidates are also subject to a rigorous fit and proper assessment process.

The Board regularly reviews and strengthens its effectiveness. Its performance and that of its Directors are assessed annually, with an independent external assessment undertaken at least once every three years. These reviews provide an independent perspective on Board effectiveness and identify opportunities to further strengthen capability, oversight and decision making. The Board acts on the findings, including through additional or targeted Director development where appropriate.

The Board can also draw on independent expertise where additional capability or challenge would strengthen its decision making. For example, an independent adviser has been appointed to the Investment Committee to support the Committee in achieving its objectives and to drive the continuous enhancement of investment governance practices.

Our Board operates under an equal representation model, comprising six member-representative directors and six employer-representative directors. Directors are appointed for an initial three-year term and may be reappointed for up to two further terms, with a maximum tenure of nine years. The Board takes a planned approach to renewal and succession to maintain the capabilities and experience needed over time. The Board also has the ability to appoint independent directors where appropriate. Decisions require 75% of the votes of Directors present and voting.

Together, these practices help ensure the Board has the capability, challenge and assurance to make effective decisions in members' best financial interests and meet its legal obligations.

For more information, see caresuper.com.au/governance.

Board committees

To help meet its obligations and oversee certain fund operations, the Board has established several committees.

Finance and Audit Committee

The purpose of this committee is to assist the Board to fulfil its responsibilities to monitor, review and assess the effectiveness of the financial reporting, and audit of the Trustee, Fund and CareSuper Group.

This committee is also responsible for overseeing and reviewing the financial sustainability of the Fund and Trustee, as well as their financial statements and recommending these statements for Board approval. This committee monitors tax compliance of the Fund, Trustee and CareSuper Group of entities, oversees relevant regulatory reporting, and manages internal and external audit for both the Trustee and the Fund.

Governance, Remuneration and Culture Committee

The purpose of this committee is to oversee:

- the embedding of the organisation's culture that is aligned to the CareSuper values
- the Board's governance framework within which the Trustee operates
- the design, implementation and monitoring of the remuneration framework, and
- the people and culture programs.

Investment Committee

The purpose of this committee is to assist the Board to fulfil its responsibilities for the sound and prudent management of the investments of the Fund and beneficiaries by considering investment matters and making investment decisions in accordance with the Fund's Investment Strategy, Investment Governance Framework, and delegated authority.

Member, Employer Services, Retirement and Insurance Committee

The purpose of the Member, Employer Services, Retirement and Insurance Committee is to assist the Board to fulfil its responsibilities by overseeing member, employer, retirement, insurance and advice offerings, including product and service outcomes, administration performance, brand, growth and retention strategies. It also monitors the Insurance Management Framework (IMF) and retirement strategy to support compliance, effective service delivery and members' long-term retirement outcomes.

Risk and Compliance Committee

The purpose of this committee is to assist the Board in determining the adequacy and effectiveness of the Risk Management Framework by reviewing risk and compliance policies and practices as well as adherence to legal and regulatory requirements.

Technology Committee

The purpose of this committee is to assist the Board in fulfilling its oversight responsibilities with respect to the overall role of technology in executing the strategic and business plan, including the effectiveness of existing technologies, and the assessment and implementation of technological improvements over time, monitoring and reviewing the performance of the technology strategy and roadmap, monitoring technology operations, delivery and resilience, and overseeing the data strategy and governance framework, information security, risk framework, and their operating effectiveness (including controls to mitigate material risks).

Board Valuation Committee

The purpose of this committee is to assist the Board to fulfil its responsibilities to monitor, review and assess the effectiveness of the valuation governance framework of the Fund and adherence to regulatory requirements and industry-issued guidance in relation to valuations.

Our people

Our Executive team is united by a shared commitment to helping members achieve better outcomes and greater financial wellbeing throughout their journey to and through retirement.

Jason Murray
Chief Executive Officer

"Behind every decision we make is a member planning for their future. Our role is to help members protect and grow their retirement savings, access support when they need it, and feel confident about the decisions they make along the way. When members feel informed, supported and secure, we know we're delivering the value they expect from CareSuper."

Jason leads all aspects of CareSuper's operations, bringing over 25 years of financial services experience in Australia and the UK across leadership roles in banking, insurance and superannuation. Throughout his career, he has focused on driving innovation and delivering products and services that improve member outcomes.

As CEO, Jason continues to guide CareSuper through its next phase of growth following the successful merger with Spirit Super in 2024, strengthening the Fund's scale, capability and long-term sustainability. Under his leadership, the Fund now manages 625,000 member accounts and more than $64 billion in members' retirement savings.

Jason has a strong track record of leading transformative change and building high-performing, values-led organisations. He is recognised for fostering a culture grounded in trust, collaboration and accountability, with a clear focus on delivering sustainable outcomes for members.

In 2026, Jason was recognised as Fund Executive of the Year by the Fund Executives Association Limited (FEAL), reflecting his leadership and contribution to the superannuation industry.

Jason also serves as a Director of Industry Super Australia, contributing to the advancement of the sector and championing improved financial wellbeing and retirement confidence for Australians.

Qualifications

Our people (cont.)

Suzanne Branton
Chief Investment Officer

"Few responsibilities carry greater weight than deciding how our members' retirement savings are invested. Every investment decision has real consequences for their future financial security. That trust demands careful judgement, disciplined decision-making and an unwavering commitment to delivering strong long-term outcomes. Being entrusted with that responsibility is a privilege that is never taken for granted."

As the Chief Investment Officer at CareSuper, Suzanne is accountable for CareSuper's investment functions, including performance, the execution of the investment strategy and managing CareSuper's sophisticated investment portfolio. She also leads the development and direction of the investment team and the capabilities that serve our members.

Suzanne has over 30 years' experience in financial markets, primarily in superannuation and asset management, with deep expertise across portfolio management, investment strategy, asset allocation, and manager research and selection. A respected leader in guiding investment teams and functions, Suzanne focuses on delivering strong long-term returns with lower risk and making a positive difference to our members' financial futures.

For the past 20 years, Suzanne has managed the investments of profit-to-member superannuation funds at CareSuper and previously Equipsuper. Prior to this, she held senior positions in investment strategy and financial market economics at Goldman Sachs and JBWere.

Qualifications

- Bachelor of Economics (Honours)
- Graduate Diploma Applied Finance

Kathleen Crawford
Chief Operating Officer

"Operational excellence isn't just about systems and processes - it's about making every member interaction seamless, reassuring, and consistently reliable. Behind the scenes, I focus on removing friction so members feel cared for at every step, with service that's efficient, responsive, and there when they need it most."

Kathleen was the Chief Operations Officer at Spirit Super from April 2021, following the merger of MTAA and Tasplan. With over 30 years' experience in the financial services industry, she has held a number of senior management positions throughout her career. Kathleen is an accomplished leader, with a broad range of experience across a range of roles including operations, marketing, strategy, change and project management.

Simon serves on the Board of Auticon, is Co-Chair of the ASFA SC3 Executive Committee, and is a Guest Lecturer at the University of Melbourne.

Qualifications

- Member, Australian Institute of Company Directors

Remuneration

Remuneration structure and decisions at CareSuper are governed by the Remuneration Framework and associated policy suite.

The framework is designed to ensure members' best financial interests (MBFI) are maintained while supporting compliance with Prudential Standard CPS 511 Remuneration and the requirements of the Financial Accountability Regime (FAR). The CareSuper Board has ultimate responsibility for overseeing the framework and its effective application.

Board and committee remuneration

Director remuneration includes an annual base fee, an additional annual flat fee for chairing and attending Board committee meetings and applicable superannuation contributions to reflect the time and commitment provided to the Fund.

Chair, Director and Committee Remuneration is benchmarked against the median of comparable funds, ensuring alignment with MBFI, market expectations and the time commitment required. The Governance, Remuneration and Culture Committee (GRCC) has the delegated authority from the Board to oversee the framework and recommends adjustments for Board approval.

To view our Board remuneration, go to caresuper.com.au/governance.

Staff remuneration

Our Remuneration Policy ensures that:

- we provide staff with a fair, equitable, transparent and market competitive remuneration framework
- we promote responsible and prudent remuneration practices
- we attract, develop, retain and reward our appropriately qualified and experienced staff
- our remuneration reflects the market we compete in for the capabilities we need
- our approach aligns with our values, strategic goals, risk appetite and members-first ethos

The remuneration structure varies depending on whether the roles are covered by the CareSuper Enterprise Agreement (EA) or individual contracts. Remuneration of those roles not covered by the EA (i.e. Executive, GM and Head of roles) has a fixed remuneration and an at-risk variable remuneration component determined based on performance, conduct and risk outcomes and is subject to deferral, malus and clawback provisions.

Remuneration of these roles is benchmarked annually and recommended by the GRCC for Board approval. During the year, we remunerated our staff through fixed salary packages. Each position is assessed on the skills, experience, level of responsibility, and other relevant factors required for the role.

EA-covered staff receive a fixed remuneration based on the skills, experience, level of responsibility and other factors as per the EA and Remuneration Policy. These roles receive annual increases as prescribed by the EA. Some EA-covered roles within the Investments team may be invited to participate in the at-risk variable remuneration plan, where the same governance principles are applied.

Staff total salary package range at 30 June 2026

Salary range	Number of staff
Under $50,000[25]	6
$50,000-$100,000	106
$100,000-$200,000	300
$200,000-$300,000	124
$300,000-$400,000	21
$400,000-$500,000	13
Over $500,000	4

We value diversity

At CareSuper, we are committed to fostering a workplace culture of inclusion and innovation, one that values equity and diversity.

We actively seek diversity across gender, age, skills, cultural backgrounds, and professional experience, recognising that a wide range of views, perspectives and experiences at the board, executive and employee levels help us to make better decisions.

We value diversity and continue to monitor representation across our Board, Executive team, people leaders and the broader workforce.

- Board and Executive diversity:
  We consider diversity in all director and executive appointments, alongside skills, experience and capability. Our nomination and selection processes are guided by both capability and diversity considerations.
- Inclusive recruitment and promotion:
  We uphold gender balance throughout our recruitment and internal promotion processes and promote diverse representation on hiring panels and consider remuneration outcomes by gender to ensure fairness and equity.
- Remuneration equity:
  As part of our remuneration review process, we analyse remuneration outcomes by gender and other factors to identify and address potential inequities.

We value diversity (cont.)

- Flexible work practices:
  We support a healthy work-life balance by offering flexible work arrangements including non-standard hours, hybrid and remote options, ensuring we can accommodate diverse employee needs.
- Gender diversity:
  On average, 53% of new hires over the preceding 12 months have been women. We disclose gender representation across our Board, executive, people leaders and broader workforce and are working towards a 40:40:20 gender balance objective for our Board. This objective informs Board succession planning, the Board skills matrix and engagement with nominating bodies. Ahead of vacancies, we communicate our desired Board composition and encourage greater gender balance in future appointments.
- Succession:
  Our current General Manager pipeline remains broadly gender balanced, with women representing 57% of the cohort at 30 June 2026.
- Engagement and leadership:
  Engagement results are reviewed by gender and leadership level to help identify areas for further analysis and action. The 2026 engagement survey achieved strong participation (80%) and provides additional insight into employee experience across the organisation.

Continuing to strengthen inclusion

During the year, the CareSuper Enterprise Agreement 2025 introduced several enhanced employee benefits designed to support a diverse and inclusive workforce, including:

- Gender Affirmation Leave
- increased parental leave entitlements over the life of the agreement
- enhanced superannuation contribution arrangements for eligible employees
- improved leave provisions to support different employee needs and life stages

We continue to monitor gender representation across our workforce, as shown below.

Gender diversity at 30 June 2026

Category	Women	Men
Board	3	9
Executive team	5	4
People leaders	69	63
Other employees	239	194

Gender by age split at 30 June 2026 (excluding Board members)

Women	0	37	73	116	87
Men	0	22	74	93	72

Our service providers

We partner with trusted providers to help us deliver strong outcomes for our members.

We carry out rigorous due diligence to make sure our service providers meet our high standards. Each year, we ask all our providers to attest to their credentials and demonstrate they meet their compliance requirements.

Compliance and risk management

We take managing our members' superannuation seriously. To make sure the fund is managed openly, honestly and according to the law, we've established rigorous standards, policies and procedures.

The Trustee

CareSuper Pty Ltd (the Trustee) is the Trustee of CareSuper (the Fund). CareSuper is a regulated superannuation fund under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 (Cth).

The Trustee has an indemnity insurance policy in place to protect its directors from potential costs of legal action. It is a Registrable Superannuation Entity, licence number R1004373, and is authorised to offer a MySuper product (MySuper registration R1004120).

The Trustee's approach to managing the Fund is detailed in its governance framework, policies and documents. This includes, but is not limited to the Fund's Trust Deed, Board and Committee Charters and the Trustee Company's Constitution. They outline the powers and responsibilities vested in the Trustee, as well as the rules for how the Trustee operates. This includes provisions for the appointment and removal of directors. The Board Charter outlines the key functions, policies and operations of the CareSuper Board.

Changes to the constitution

During the 2025–26 financial year, we updated our Constitution to correct a minor typographical error. You can find a copy on our Governance page at caresuper.com.au/governance.

The trust deed

Our Trust Deed was updated in October 2026. You can find a copy on our Governance page at caresuper.com.au/governance.

Taxation policy

CareSuper has a Taxation policy that is reviewed at least biennially. The taxation objective is to ensure that the Fund complies with its statutory taxation reporting obligations and is managed in accordance with all applicable laws and regulations. The taxation philosophy of the Trustee is to:

- maintain a conservative level of tax risk
- maximise the after-tax returns to members, and
- comply with the prevailing revenue laws in all relevant jurisdictions.

Privacy policy

We value our members' privacy and the security of their personal information. Our Privacy Policy outlines how we collect, use, store and disclose personal information in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 and Australian Privacy Principles.

It explains how personal information is used to provide superannuation products and services, including through third-party service providers, and the circumstances in which information may be shared with regulators and other organisations.

The Policy also outlines how you can access and update your personal information, and highlights considerations when using online services, including potential risks associated with providing personal information over the internet. You can view the full policy at caresuper.com.au/privacy.

Complaints handling policy

Our Complaints handling policy outlines how we listen and respond to members' complaints to maintain strong member outcomes. It details how members can make a complaint about our products and services, the complaints process and response timeframes, and steps to take if a complaint isn't resolved. You can find our policy at caresuper.com.au/complaints.

Vulnerable members policy

Our Vulnerable members policy outlines how we provide additional support to vulnerable members. A member may be vulnerable due to a number of factors, including race, culture, age, gender identity, disability, financial distress, family violence, low literacy, mental health, a catastrophic event or isolation. Vulnerability can be temporary or permanent. The Vulnerable Members Policy was reviewed within the last year, is reviewed every two years, and is due to be updated in late 2026.

Compliance Framework

As a regulated superannuation fund, the Trustee is required to operate in accordance with applicable legal and regulatory requirements. Our Compliance Framework sets out our approach to ensuring we comply with our legal, regulatory and licensing requirements, including how we monitor changes to these obligations. The Compliance Framework supports the Risk Management Framework.

Our commitment to human rights and combatting modern slavery

We are committed to respecting human rights and preventing modern slavery in our operations and supply chains.

Guided by our Modern slavery policy, we publish an annual Modern Slavery Statement to the Australian Government's online register and make it available at www.modernslaveryregister.gov.au. This statement outlines the actions we take to strengthen transparency and accountability.

As part of our approach, we generally apply supplier screening and due diligence processes that help us assess modern slavery risks, compliance with our policies, and alignment with other regulatory requirements. Through these processes, we aim to support ethical supplier selection, encourage responsible sourcing, and promote continuous improvement across our supply chain.

Risk management framework

Our Risk Management Framework includes the Risk Management Strategy, Risk Appetite Statement and applicable policies and procedures used by the Fund to identify, assess and manage risk. The framework ensures the scale of the activities undertaken by the Fund, and their risk profile, do not lead to losses or impacts which exceed our risk appetite, or render the Trustee unable to meet its business objectives or strategy. The Risk Management Framework is reviewed annually.

Protecting your superannuation against cyber crime

Cyber and financial crime continue to pose increased threats. Safeguarding our members' superannuation savings is our utmost priority. We employ robust cyber security measures, including encryption, multi-factor authentication, and regular independent security audits, to protect against cyber threats. Our diligent team of experts constantly monitors for any unusual activity.

Member fraud and scams

CareSuper maintains a Member Fraud and Scam Policy and associated controls designed to detect, prevent and respond to threats to members' account integrity. These measures are supported by member education and proactive communications that help members recognise fraud and scam risks, protect their superannuation, and report suspicious activity through dedicated channels. Through a combination of robust security controls and ongoing awareness initiatives, we are committed to safeguarding our members' retirement savings.

Conflicts management policy

APRA regulated superannuation Trustees are required to maintain a board-approved conflicts management policy as part of a wider conflicts management framework. The Policy outlines how the Trustee identifies, avoids and manages conflicts between the Trustee's duties and the interests of its beneficiaries.

The Trustee also maintains a register of relevant interests and duties which is available on the CareSuper website. The Trustee's Conflicts management policy is reviewed annually with changes approved by the Board.

Product governance

As an issuer and distributor of superannuation products, the Trustee is required to design and distribute its products in accordance with the design and distribution obligations. These obligations ensure products are designed and distributed to consumers within a defined target market and the products are likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of the target market.

Our Product governance policy establishes our arrangements for compliance with the design and distribution obligations at each stage of the product lifecycle and was last reviewed in November 2024.

Anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing program

The Trustee is required to establish and maintain an Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing (AML/CTF) program consisting of a written program, risk assessment and procedures and controls to manage and mitigate risks associated with money laundering, terrorism financing and proliferation financing. The program includes the customer due diligence procedures we use to identify members when processing certain transactions, transaction monitoring, and making reports about certain transactions to AUSTRAC (The Australian Transaction Reports and Analysis Centre).

Whistleblower Program

CareSuper's Whistleblower Program provides a safe and confidential way to report serious misconduct or wrongdoing, including anonymously. The program protects eligible whistleblowers from detrimental treatment and supports the appropriate investigation and response to concerns raised. It is available at caresuper.com.au/wb.

Derivatives policy

Our investment managers may use derivatives (like futures and options) to enhance returns or manage risk. However, they can't use them to leverage the fund or to cause overall exposure to any asset class or combination of classes to breach the long-term strategic ranges.

The derivatives charge ratio is the percentage of the total market value of the assets of the fund (other than cash) that the Trustee has charged as security for derivatives investments made by the Trustee. Our derivatives charge ratio did not exceed 5% during the financial year.

Unit pricing

We use unit prices to calculate and report members' superannuation balances and apply investment returns in relation to investments in a Pre-mixed or Asset class option. Like shares, unit prices move up and down each day in line with the earnings for each investment option. When investment returns are positive, unit prices go up. When investment returns are negative, unit prices go down. Each time you move money into or out of the Pre-mixed and Asset class options, the transaction involves buying and selling units. Any money that you put into an investment option 'buys' units, and any money that you take out of an investment option 'sells' units.

New unit prices for each investment option are calculated each business day and published on our website within two business days.

Members' account balances include the number of units they own. To learn more about how unit pricing works, read the relevant PDS available at caresuper.com.au/pds.

How we manage reserves

We maintain reserves designed to provide for known and potential commitments and contingencies.

We maintain three reserve accounts in the fund:

1. General Reserve
2. Investment Reserve
3. Operational Risk Reserve

The General Reserve represents that pool of funds required to meet the general operating and administration costs of the Fund, as well as any unexpected or unforeseeable costs that may arise. Administration levies are deducted from members' accounts to fund the Reserve. The General Reserve is invested as a combination of asset class exposures in line with the Balanced option as well as interest-bearing cash balances to maintain liquidity.

The Investment Reserve is used to accumulate investment income prior to it being allocated to members' accounts. The Investment Reserve comprises the difference between the cumulative amount of investment income earned (net of expenses and tax) and the cumulative amount of investment income allocated to members' accounts.

The Operational Risk Reserve is to provide protection to the Fund if a loss is incurred from an operational risk event occurring. The use of the Operational Risk Reserve is governed by the requirements of the Prudential Standard on Operational Risk Financial Requirement (SPS 114). The Operational Risk Reserve is invested in an investment exposure consistent with the aggregate asset allocation of CareSuper's investments.

An additional reserve account is maintained within the Trustee for CareSuper (the Trustee Company).

4. Trustee Capital Reserve

The Trustee Capital Reserve contains amounts for the administration and operation of the Trustee Company and, if appropriate, the Fund. The Reserve is maintained to protect the Trustee against insolvency in the event it became liable for a future fine or penalty.

Our reserves (Fund and Trustee Company)

	2025–26 $'000	2024–25 $'000	2023–24 $'000	2022–23 $'000

[26]TCR is held within the Trustee Company, CareSuper Pty Ltd.

Financial statements

CareSuper's financial statements are independently audited by Ernst & Young in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards and approved by the Trustee. The audited Financial Report, including the Directors' Report, Remuneration Report, financial statements, disclosure notes and auditor's report for the year ended 30 June 2026, is available at caresuper.com.au/financialreport2025-26.

Additional information for members

Keeping your details up to date

We need your correct contact details so we can send you important information, such as your annual statement. You can check and update your details in Member Online or by contacting us. To update your details or check your contributions, log in at caresuper.com.au/login.

Significant event notices

We'll always let you know when something important is changing with your superannuation. If there's a material change to the Fund, such as changes to fees, costs or our products, we'll send you a Significant Event Notice (SEN). You'll receive it at least 30 days before the change takes effect, clearly explaining how the change could affect you. You can see a summary of the SENs we've issued over the last two years at caresuper.com.au/governance.

Annual Member Meeting

We held our Annual Member Meeting (AMM) for the 2024–25 financial year on 26 November 2025. The AMM is a chance for members to hear directly from our Chair and executive team about fund performance, updates and what's coming up. You can access the minutes, Q&As and video recording at caresuper.com.au/amm-2025. We'll hold our AMM for 2025–26 on 26 November 2026.

Temporary residents

If you're a temporary resident and left Australia more than six months ago—or your visa has expired or been cancelled—we're required to transfer your superannuation to the ATO. We're not required by ASIC to notify you or provide an exit statement if this happens. To claim your superannuation from the ATO, go to ato.gov.au.

Enquiries and complaints

We are committed to providing high-quality service and making every effort to address your concerns fairly, transparently, and as quickly as possible.

If you make a complaint, we will acknowledge it promptly and work with you to understand and resolve your concerns. Where further review is required, we will carefully consider all relevant information and keep you informed throughout the process.

For further information about our complaints process, complaint handling timeframes, and external dispute resolution options, please visit caresuper.com.au/complaints.
